DETAILED ACTION

Terminal Disclaimer

1. The terminal disclaimer filed on 26 October 2006 disclaiming the terminal portion of any patent granted on this application which would extend beyond the expiration date of Application No. 10/371,815 has been reviewed and is accepted. The terminal disclaimer has been recorded.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1,2,5 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Morad (USP 5,509,163). The patent to Morad discloses a twist mop (10) comprising a shaft (12) having an operator end and a cleaning end, an operating member (18), mop element (16), an indexing surface (64) disposed on a portion of the shaft and having the cross-section shape of a regular polygon and further including at least one indexing arm (20) on the operating member and engaging the indexing surface.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 1744

4. Claims 3,4 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Morad (USP 5,509,164). The patent to Morad discloses the invention substantially as claimed with the exception of (1) the indexing surface being on a sleeve, (2) the indexing surface being octagonal and (3) there being four indexing arms. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill to have, instead of making the indexing surface integral with the shaft, since it has been held that construction a formerly integral structure in various elements involves only routine skill in the art. Nerwin v. Erlichman, 168 USPQ 177, 179. The modification of the shape of the indexing surface of the shaft and the shape of the cooperating indexing arm would be obvious to one of ordinary skill depending on the number of incremental positions desired for the operating member. The provision of plural indexing arms per se would amount to an obvious duplication of parts.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claim 9 is allowed.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed 26 October 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant's argument pertains essentially to one issue. That pertains to the term "substantially in the shape of a regular polygon". Applicant merely takes the position that the prior art (USP 5,509,163) does not disclose such a shape. There is no evidence presented to define the term, nor is there a definition of the term in the specification. In fact, the only occurrence of the term in the application is in the claims. Firstly, the term "substantially" makes the claim much broader than applicant is arguing. Secondly, a definition of the term "regular polygon" is one that has equal angles as well as equal length sides (see attachment to this office action). The toothed section (64) of Morad includes a plurality of triangular teeth (figure 4) having equal angles as well as equal sides and as such is a "regular polygon" in the broadest sense of the term. Even more so given the presence of the term "substantially" in the claims.

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
